Roy commenced work as a design engineering apprentice with a national Contractor and has worked with the construction industry for 40 years. The majority of Roy's years have been spent with national and international Consulting Engineers working both in the UK and overseas. He was formerly the Continuous Improvement Director for an international M&E Consultancy. In 2009 he joined Success Train Ltd providing training, coaching, business risk management, business process engineering and business/people improvement. He has run regular PQQ training courses in conjunction with Sandwell Council since mid 2009. Success Train was responsible for delivery of a large volume of training and support programmes for WMCCE during their 3 year Building on Advantage programme and Roy delivered over half of the total 300 assists programme alone.

In 2001 Roy organized the inaugural meeting of the City & East London Best Practice Club which in 2004 became the London Constructing Excellence Club, where he served as an officer until the end of 2007. In 2007 Roy also became Chairperson of the Black Country Constructing Excellence Club and held that post for 5 years before becoming the Club's first President.

In October 2009 Roy was elected Chairman of the National Clubs Steering Group. In October 2010 he was appointed as a member of the board of management for Constructing Excellence.

Roy has been a judge of the London & South East Constructing Excellence Awards and WMCCE regional constructing excellence awards since 2007 and a judge for the Constructing Excellence National Awards since 2009. His company has also sponsored the Constructing Excellence national awards; for Leadership & Development in 2009 and 2010 and in 2011 the SME Award.

In 2011 Roy was runner up (2nd) in the Achiever of the Year Award in the West Midlands Celebrating Construction Awards.
